

RF Power That Fits Your Needs.

We make some of the most innovative, dependable, versatile RF amplifier systems and modules in the world. They provide power for everything from military tactical radios to communications systems, electronic warfare devices, and high-tech medical equipment.

We also have the unique ability to create cost-efficient, semi-customized amplifier systems with the power, frequency and features you need to power ... whatever. Just give us your specs and we'll give you an amplifier. You can explore infinite possibilities with creating custom amplifiers for each application.
